

The plot above shows the gain of the 16 buckeye channels as a function of radiation dose. Five separate runs with different beam intensity make up this plot. The lower the beam intensity the less effect the radiation has on the chip gain. One can also see annealing recovery of the chip between runs. We expect less than 10 KRads during 10 years of LHC running. Thus the buckeye chip behaves well in radiation.